IN PLENARY SESSION

Conference Now Nears
Discussion of Major Problems.

LONG MEETING HELD
BY AMERICAN GROUP

Parley to Name Committee of Ten for Consideration of Referred Questions.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.
London, Jan. 28 (N.Y.W.H.S.).—The London naval conference was brought several steps closer to the inevitable struggle with the major problems it hopes to solve by a meeting today of the American delegation with its advisers and experts and by a decision of the big five to hold a public plenary session Thursday for consideration of French, British and Italian proposals.

Probably the most important event
of the day, though one which received little attention because of the successful secrecy in which it was engaged, was the long meeting of the American delegation, the second in two days.

The New York World News Service
understands that the American program, as drawn up in Washington,
after certain gaps to be filled in here after the United States delegates had narrowed the points of view of the other nations. Certain all-important figures have to be filled into these gaps for presentation to the conference, and the American delegates are expected to have filled the gaps during the two-day session.

Committee of Ten to Be Named.
At today's meeting of the big five it was agreed that at Thursday's plenary session a committee of ten shall be appointed, two for each power, to consider the referred questions, to prepare a report on the referred questions, and to make recommendations to the plenary session. The reason for holding this third plenary session is clearly to make the conference intelligent anywhere. Nothing of importance will be done, although as a prelude to the conference, and at the conference room in St. James place, which it was said would hold 15 correspondents, will hold 78 others. These were divided among the powers, the British getting a disproportionate share on account of the Dominion, 13 going to the Americans and the rest of the 400 newspaper men will listen to the conference proceedings on loudspeakers installed in the palace which Henry II built for Anne Boleyn.

At this plenary session Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will make an introductory remarks and then three proposals now on "part one" of a agenda kept by Sir Maurice Hankey, secretary general of the conference, will be propounded. The French and Italian treaties already have been made known. This morning, Great Britain, under the leadership of Lord Curzon, is coming up, apparently between "part one" and "part two," proposed limitation by categories and Italian demand
for a global tonnage treaty.
The Italian-French imbroglio shows
no signs of amelioration thus far.
The Grandi-Italian foreign minister, clashed at today's meeting of the big five that he could only agree to appointment of a committee to discuss the French global tonnage scheme first under an "absolute reserve" regarding the Italian claim to parity with France. He warned the rest of the four other delegations of the political decision of the Italian government and, as such, is not subject to any technical modifications.

Signor Grandi told the other powers he proposes to reaffirm this in the plenary session Thursday, so his speech will probably be the only fil-ltering event unless, which seems unlikely, Mr. Stimson should understand "A" for America, which gives him priority, and declared that cruisers be discussed first.
However, would raise a storm
if the American policy seems to be let the Franco-Italian gale blow off.

Premier Andre Tardieu tonight told newspapermen over the victory won for publicity by winning admission to the plenary sessions and warned that the world will not be of quarrels or dissensions. "We are not here to quarrel or dissensions."

Developments of Day At Naval Conference

(By the Associated Press.) Conference accepts American proposal to open plenary sessions to newspapermen. "Big Five" and committee sessions continue privately.
Third plenary session Thursday will appoint committee of two from each nation to study French proposal of limitation by totals, British proposal for limitation by categories and Italian claim to parity
with France, in that order.
Secretary Stimson described yesterday's "Big Five" meeting as "clearing the underbrush."
Foreign Secretary Bismarck told Pilgrimage Society guests that the people demand deeds, not words;
reduction in armaments, not merely limitation.
French delegates expect generalities to be cleared up in tonight permitting work on drafting a treaty.
Secretary Stimson tells the home folks by radio of efforts of the American delegation and problems facing the conference.

STIMSON NAVY ADDRESS TEXT

New York, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—The
complete text of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's address from London over the National Broadcasting Company chain today follows:

My friends of the unseen audience:
Under these peculiar circumstances which find me abroad in London and you, my unseen audience, at home in the United States, it would be a far greater pleasure to me if modern science could collect the voice of the American people and bring it over here to me for my inspiration and guidance rather than take my own voice and distribute it among you.
Nevertheless, while I can neither see you nor hear you, I can get comfort from talking to you.

The American delegation at the Naval Arms Conference here in London, as you know, consists of Mr.
Charles Francis Adams, the Secretary of the Navy, Senator Joseph Robinson, of Arkansas, leader of the Democratic party in the Senate, Senator David Reed, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Senate committee on military affairs; Gen. Dawes, the American Ambassador here in London; Mr.
Hugh Gibson, the American Ambassador to Brussels; Mr. Dwight Morrow,
the American Ambassador to Mexico,
and myself. We have come over here to try to negotiate a treaty between the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, by which each of these nations will limit and reduce its navies.

Two Great Purposes Cited.
We believe that this will accomplish two great purposes: First, it will put an end to the ill will, suspicion
and fear that inevitably is aroused by competition in naval building; and secondly, it will reduce the cost of our navies and thus relieve the taxpayers of each country from some of the burdens that rest upon them.

We believe that we can do both of these things, and yet at the same time add to the security of our country, for there are times when less navy and more good will in the world will give greater security than more navy and less good will, and we think that this is one of those times.

The reaction from the great war is still with us, as with individuals, so in nations; periods of wisdom follow periods of triumph. The pressure of public opinion arising out of the sorrows of the great war, has made possible several great constructive international agreements in the last six years. Perhaps the greatest of these was the one which was promulgated in Washington last July, the pact of London.

10,000 Communists March At Rites for Slain Striker

Coffin of Red Shot in Row With Police Preceded 20-Block Line.

New York, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Ten thousand persons marched over 3 miles of wet, sloppy pavements today
to honor the memory of an obscure dead man.
Steve Katsoris' only claim to fame
was that he was shot down in a clash between police and striking market workers in the Bronx, but today his body, in a red-draped casket, flanked by an escort of motorcycle police, led a procession 30 blocks long.
The people in that cortege were Communists and Communist sympathizers, poor people, some of them
a bit ragged, who idealized Katsoris as a martyr to their cause.
They were orderly enough, though some 400 policemen had been placed in readiness in the event of trouble.

Madrid, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Premier Primo de Rivera, dictator since 1923, resigned tonight, and Gen. Damaso Berenguer, long his arch-enemy, was charged by King Alfonso to form a new ministry.
The downfall of the brilliant military officer and politician, who had controlled Spain with an iron hand
for more than six years, had appeared imminent all day, but it was not until after a cabinet session in the evening that the premier drove to the royal palace and presented the resignation of himself and cabinet.
Gen. Berenguer, in an interview
after his appointment by the king,
said he intended to appoint civilian ministers to all portfolios except those of war and marine.

Intentions Are Announced.
He announced his intention of re-establishing the constitution of 1876,
under which the country was governed before the dictatorship. He will convene a general election for deputies and senators and establish the Cortes or Parliament.
Signed, untill now, submit his program for approval to a Parliament properly elected, the new premier must work under special authority
granted by the king; the dictatorship
can not be said as a matter of fact to have yet been dissolved. However, the announced program of Berenguer
calls for quicker and more direct return to a constitutional regime than that which had been advocated by Primo de Rivera.

Lieut. Gen. Don Miguel Primo de Rivera y Orbaneja Marquis de Estella, to give his full name and title, distinguished himself in the campaign against Moroccan natives which for some years had been draining the national treasury, exhausting the man power and threatening to bring about a collapse of the nation.
Sentence Was Commuted.
His success followed the defeat and disgrace of the man who now succeeds him as head of the government.
Gen. Berenguer was high commissioner in Morocco in 1921 and 1922.
He resigned in July, 1922, and in the following June the senate, of which he was a member, voted to impeach him on the ground that he was responsible for a severe defeat in Morocco. He was convicted, removed from the active list, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment. The sentence was commuted.

In 1926, King Alfonso showed his confidence in Gen. Berenguer by appointing him chief of his household.
The appointment was commented on at the time as indicating a breach between the sovereign and Primo de Rivera for the mutual dislike between the two generals had never been concealed.
Event Had Been Feared.
Although the actual resignation of the cabinet came suddenly it had been expected for some time.

INQUIRY IS ORDERED IN FATAL AIR CRASH

Sweeping Investigation to Include Reason for Wreck Removal.

SENATE NOTES CASES

Kansas City, Kans., Jan. 28 (A.P.).
A sweeping investigation of the crash
of a Central Air Lines passenger plane
in which five persons plunged to death near Fairfax Airport near here, including inquiry into the reason for the hasty removal of the wreckage,
was ordered late today by Dr. Ben P.
Coffin, county coroner.

Air line officials, mechanics from Wichita, Kans., and probably those who removed the wreckage after a deputy coroner ordered it left intact will be summoned to the inquest called by Dr. Coffin for later in the week.
The Wichita mechanics are wanted
to tell of the condition of the plane
when it left Wichita yesterday.

Dr. Coffin previously had stated an inquest appeared useless, asserting the evidence which might have shown the cause had been removed by the dismantling of the wrecked plane.
J. A. Watkins, president of the Central Air Lines, arrived from Wichita, Kans., to take charge of the company's investigation.

Watkins said in his statement that Duke Laudeman, pilot of the craft which had been flying since 1922 and that he was found to be in splendid physical condition when he received his last regular monthly examination.

W. H. Ellis, an aviation mechanic and friend of the dead pilot, declared
however, that Laudeman had complained recently that he was tired
and had been flying too much.

"Everything seems to go all right
when my ship isn't heavily loaded and the air is smooth but when I've got a load, it's hell," he quoted Laudeman as saying.

Richard H. Lee, Jr., supervising aeronautical inspector of the Department of Commerce, who was conducting an investigation today, preparatory to making a report to Washington officials, authorized the removal of the wreckage.

Boy Panther Hunter Shoots His Brother, 7

Nine-Year-Old Lad Thought Reward
For Slaying "Cat" Victim of Bullet in Serious Condition.

Hearing that there was a reward for the "panther," dead or alive, Earl Perry, colored, 9 years old, accidentally shot his 7-year-old brother, Gerson Perry, at their home on Irving street near Georgia avenue northwest, shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he was preparing to hunt the "wild animal" with his father's revolver.
The younger boy was taken to Frederick's Hospital with a bullet wound through his chest, just above the heart. His condition was said to be serious.
The older brother told Tenth Predict police that he had heard that $1,000 was to be paid the person who got the panther alive and $500 if the
"wild animal" was brought in dead.
Earl said that he got this information from boys in the neighborhood. Yesterday afternoon he decided to hunt
the "panther" and, doubting the chances of getting the animal alive,
decided to take his father's revolver,
he told police. While examining the firearm in the presence of Gerson he discharged it seriously wounding the younger boy.
After a short foray in the Northwest section, Washington's marauding animal apparently has returned to his haunts in the Northeast section.
Early Monday night he was reported seen in Rock Creek Cemetery, but he evidently was just prowling around with no intention of leaving the Northeast permanently. Police who rushed to the cemetery said the beast had turned eastward. They found tracks in the cemetery around Soldiers Home and along Harvard road near Foreign Mission Seminary, where the trail was lost in the slushy snow thaw.

today to collect the more than $1,000-

786,737.07 quota for the Washington
Community Chest for 1930.

The 2,000 members of the metropolitan unit who enter the campaign as active collectors for the first time today, complete the forces which are working to have the entire sum pledged on the books of the Chest
by the time the campaign closes on February 6.

This unit received final instructions
at the Mayflower Hotel last night
when a pageant written by Frank Baer was presented under the direction of Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest and Miss Donna Taggart, depicting in detail various phases of the work done by the Community Chest. Many of the organizations affiliated with the Community Chest participated in the pageant, with the cooperation of the community center department of the public schools.

Volunteers in Chest.
All members of the cast were volunteers, and most of them were benefited with some organization affiliated with the Chest. They had trained faithfully for the past month, rehearsing several days a week, with the final dress rehearsal taking place Monday.

There were ten scenes, each depicting a different phase of the activities of the Chest.
The chorus was directed by Gertrude Lyons, the dances by Capline McKinley, lighting by Harold Snyder.
Accompanists were Edith Hunter and Margaret Bowie Grant. There were more than 70 players in the cast.

Investigators and investigations yesterday reached the point where they were reminiscent of Washington in the war days.
Early in the day Attorney General
Mitchell sent the head of his investigating service, J. Edgar Hoover, to see Senator Borah to assure him that no
Department of Justice investigator
had been to see him in the first instance and that in the second that no other department investigator had watched the senator's office to see who the first investigator was.

Whereupon Senator Borah said the first man who first came to see him
he believed to be a Government investigator still in the Government employ and that he would investigate
to find out about this investigator.
The indications are, indeed, that the department's investigators and Senator Borah's investigators will cooperate to this end.

Charges by Two Senators.
This development revolved around the charges made by Senator Borah and Senator Wheeler, of Idaho, that the Department of Justice was in charge of prohibition enforcement here.
The Idaho senator had previously said that if charges against Herbert had been brought to him by a Department of Justice investigator
were true, Herbert was not fit to hold office, and, indeed, should be in the penitentiary.

Supplementing this statement he later said, rather casually, that his office must have been under surveillance because after the department investigator had visited him he had been removed to another station.

Mitchell Denies Spying.
Mr. Mitchell issued a statement
bright and early saying:
"Somebody has been misleading Senator Borah."

"No Department of Justice agent or employee has 'watched' or followed Senator Borah or any other member of Congress. Any sort of espionage upon members of Congress or their offices by this department is unthinkable and utterly repugnant to the sense of propriety of every official in this department."

He also denied that the department had made any inquiry of either Herbert or J. J. Quinn, his assistant when he was here.
Mr. Mitchell was so confident of the innocence of his men in this episode, in fact, that the impression was gained that the department
knew the identity of the investigator who gave Senator Borah his information, which would show just how complete is the investigation service in Washington.

One Theory Advanced.
An explanation heard at the Capitol was that he was an investigator for another branch of the Government, perhaps prohibition. There was Abatement of the dense fog, which enveloped the city last night, caused disruption of air mail service and made pedestrians and auto travel hazardous, was promised for today by the Weather Bureau.

Thick mists, moving in banks, seriously hampered traffic in the downtown section, and made driving precarious. The banks moved across the Potomac and Anacostia Rivers and settled upon the city. Many minor mistakes, caused by poor visibility,
were reported.
Weather Bureau officials declared
the condition was due to condensa-

humidity coming in contact with the cold waters of the rivers and the snow and ice on the ground.
Air mail services were paralyzed.

SENATOR HOWELL, OF NEBRASKA

DEPARTMENTS ROW OVER RUM TREATIES

Treasury and State Seen at Loggerheads Over Import Limitations.

HOOVER MAY INTERVENE

By CARLISLE HARGREAVEN.

Discord between the Treasury and the State Department over liquor treaties which have been negotiated
by the United States Government and Great Britain and eleven other nations appeared so serious yesterday that the likelihood was seen of intervention by President Hoover.

The Treasury is anxious for abrogation of the treaties, most of which were arranged by Charles Evans Hughes during his term as Secretary of State, while the State Department is equally anxious to have them continued.

Treasury officials insist that the anti-liquor treaties impede enforcement of the prohibition laws by allowing foreign vessels to bring liquor into American ports under seal,
the foreign signatories having been given that privilege in return for their agreement to permit United States Coast Guard and other officials to board their vessels, when suspected, within an hour's steaming distance of the coast, instead of the traditional three-mile limit.

In place of that provision, the Treasury would have the treaties revised so that foreign governments would prohibit export of liquor in vessels of less than 100 tons, thereby outlawing liquor traffic by small boats along the Canadian border.

There already is in existence a treaty along such lines with Norway,
Sweden, Finland and Germany. Coast Guard officials declare that 90 per cent of the rum-runners are vessels of less than 100 tons.

The Treasury also would have foreign governments require masters of vessels clearing with liquor from foreign ports to post bond to produce documentary evidence that their liquor cargoes were delivered elsewhere than in the United States.

A treaty along those lines now exists between the United States and Cuba, failure of a master to produce evidence that he has delivered the cargo to other than the United States making him subject to forfeiture of his bond. In addition, his vessel is denied for five years thereafter the right to clear from any port of either of the contracting countries.

Although State Department officials deny official knowledge of the treaty situation, they foresee many

HOME RAIDS ALLOWED
IF RUM IS DELIVERED

Provisions Which Were Vetoed by Mitchell
Are Retained.

ALL POLICEMEN MADE PROHIBITION AGENTS

Four Judges Also Would Be Empowered to Issue
Liquor Warrants.

If a policeman saw liquor delivered to a private dwelling in Washington, he could obtain a warrant to
raid that dwelling, under the provisions of a bill introduced yesterday by Senator Robert G. Howell
(Republican), of Nebraska.

The bill, which is the fruit of a quarrel between Senator Howell and President Hoover over prohibition enforcement here, and which is designed to make Washington a model prohibition city, is even more drastic than it was expected to be.
It certainly is more drastic than Attorney General Mitchell thought it would be, for Senator Howell has written into it a number of provisions which Mr. Mitchell previously had vetoed.

Homes Might Be Raided.
One of these is the provision that would permit a policeman to obtain a raid warrant for a private home to which liquor had been delivered or from which it had been removed.

Consequently, the bill is expected to be the subject of a terrific fight when it comes up in the Senate.
The earliest provision of the bill
was that if a policeman saw liquor delivered to a private dwelling in Washington, he could obtain a warrant to
raid that dwelling, under the pro-
(Republican), of Nebraska.

It gives all of the 1,500 or more members of the Police Department the power of prohibition agents, whereas now only 38 specially deputized members of the force have such powers.

Court Judges Authorized.
It authorizes the four judges of the Police Court to issue liquor warrants in addition to the United States commissioners.

It provides heavy fines and a mandatory jail sentence for persons who sell liquor to minors.

It creates a fund of $2,000 for the use of policemen and their secret workers in gathering evidence of prohibition violations.

It provides that, even though liquor
is seized under an invalid warrant, it shall not be returned if it can be shown that the owner acquired it unlawfully.

Police Penalty Provided.
It provides that any policeman who fails to enforce the act shall be fined from $100 to $500 and then discharged from the force.

In addition, of course, it provides penalties for the sale, possession, manufacture and transportation of liquor.

Opposition to the bill is not expected to come solely from wet; some features of it, it is believed, will be obnoxious to even such drys as Senator Borah, of Idaho, who opposed the Volstead act.

said. "The question is this, he said last night. 'Do we really want to make Washington a model enforcement city or not? If we do, we will have to have an enforcement law with teeth in it.'"

Home Raids Most Severe Part. The "tooth" that is going to make the biggest controversy, Senator Howell conceded, is the provision governing the delivery of liquor to private homes.

On this point, the Volstead act reads as follows:

"No search warrant shall issue to search any private dwelling occupied by such person as is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor."

Senator Howell put this in his bill, but to it he added these words: "Or a still or distilling apparatus is unlawfully set up or being used therein, or intoxicating liquor is unlawfully delivered thereto or removed therefrom."

When Senator Howell sent the bill to Attorney General Mitchell, the latter disapproved the additional words, holding that they were too drastic, but Senator Howell kept them in anyway.

Now at Bootleggers Meant.

Senator Howell contends that under present conditions the police are unable to arrest many persons they know are manufacturing liquor illegally because they can not make a "buy" from them.

For the same reason, he said, they can not proceed against bootleggers who have liquor stored in a house or apartment. It is to aid the police in such cases, he said, that he inserted the aforementioned provision in his bill.

He admits, however, that under a broad interpretation, the provision could be used to arrest nonbootleggers.

HOOPER MAY MOVE IN RUM TREATY ROW

difficulties in the way of negotiating such treaty revisions.

Present indications, however, are that the treaty controversy will reach a climax on February 22, when the time for giving notice of any desire to modify the liquor treaty with Great Britain will expire.

Demands have been made by the United States that Canada refuse clearance to vessels suspected of carrying liquor destined for the United States, and Canada's answer is expected in a speech from the crown on February 20.

Mack Flays Prohibition.

The opinion was expressed yesterday by Norman E. Mack, Democratic national committeeman from New York, that economic drain imposed upon it by national prohibition.

"Prohibition in the United States," he declared, "has been a financial Godsend to Canada, but it is hard on the United States, to have millions of dollars pouring out of the country."

Chairman Wickersham of the Enforcement Commission, engaged both ways and dry in Congress yesterday, and at the end of the session there was an opinion current that an inquiry into the entire prohibition unit might be a development soon.

Attorney General Mitchell's declaration that he would demand Government officers who believed in and practiced prohibition met with criticism from Representative Celler (Democrat), of New York, who pointed out that such a "silly ban and restriction" would have barred such as Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding, Alfred E. Smith, and William D. Baker from Government service.

Oliver Landis Mitchell.

Representative Oliver (Democrat), Alabama, on the other hand replied that "in writing that letter Mr. Mitchell has rendered a distinct service to the American people" and "seeks only to provide decent sobriety on the part of those who held commissions in that department."

Supporting the Hull amendment to the Department of Justice supply bill, which would increase funds for prosecution of anti-liquor law violators, Representative Shaffer (Republican), of Wisconsin, declared that the Government has permitted an industrial alcohol trust monopoly to form under the prohibition laws. "He declared that Congress gives plenty of money for enforcement of the prohibition laws against 'little fellows,' but 'permits the big fellows to get away.'"

On the heels of Attorney General Mitchell's statement, Representative Stone (Republican), of Oklahoma, introduced a bill to compel all employees and others who receive any money from the United States Treasury to pledge themselves under oath not to drink liquor nor use narcotics.

NIGHT CLUB FIGURE SHOT DEAD IN CAMP

Louis C. Miller's Body Found Riddled With Bullets Near Canadian Line.

RUM SHIP CLEW FOUND

Niagara Falls, Ontario, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Louis C. Miller, 32, was found dead of bullet wounds in his camp on Chippewa Creek a few miles from here today. Authorities said they believed he had been murdered, possibly in another rumrunning plot. No weapon was found.

For years Miller had been associated with night clubs on the American side. His camp was patronized by sportsmen from the American and Canadian Niagara districts and was famed for the fish and game dinners served.

The camp is located in a lonely section. To reach it motorists must travel over a narrow and rough road, park their cars a half mile distant and then go the rest of the way on foot.

Provincial police took charge of the case shortly after Miller's wife found the body when she arrived at the camp from the city.

Cleveland, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Federal prohibition agents here today were investigating reports that a speed boat was found on Pelee Island last night with the body of a man in it.

The body was found in a heavy storm and disappeared with three men aboard.

Cost Guard officers at Marblehead said they knew nothing of the finding of any boat at Pelee Island, and attempts to verify the report were without success.

BORAH STARTS QUIZ OVER INVESTIGATOR

considered to be even the possibility that this particular investigator may have been doing some work that made him consider he was a Department of Justice man.

Anyhow, Mr. Borah's investigators are out to find out just who this investigator is.

In the meantime, Senator Wheeler is moving somewhat slower in his pressure against Herbert and there are indications that he is investigating the matter where the law is being supplied him with information.

It is not known who the information is, but it is known that the Government investigators, however, there are countless unofficial ones hard at work just now. Ku Klux Klan investigators are reported to be turning up some prohibition stuff.

Team of Investigators.

Then there is a team of three investigators, description of which might throw some light on the situation. One is a former prohibition agent who was discharged, another is a man-about-town type, who poses as a big man in politics. He got to talking people that he was close to the Secret Service where the service is a man-about-town type, who poses as a big man in politics.

Bordeaux, France, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—The single rope which meant rescue to seventeen members of the crew of the British freighter Knabworth snapped tonight after eight others had been safely brought ashore from the wreck.

Helplessly the rescue workers on shore watched the sailors clinging to the rigging, while the seas broke over them, facing death every minute. Twenty detectives were assigned to guard the body. Inspector Sullivan said he had no idea who shot Donnelly.

Police said Donnelly had been indicted for the slaying of 100 men at the pier, where he was a dock leader boss, when a young man was waiting in a car to see him. When a shot was fired at the end of the pier, Donnelly was shot and killed. The body was found floating in the water.

ICE JAMS FLOOD AREA FOLK

National Guard Officer Says Little Wabash Situation Is Slightly Worse.

FLIERS DROP SUPPLY KITS

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Ice jams continued to withhold from the outside world today the true condition of families isolated by flood waters at Point Township, Fox Island, Polaris Ridge and other lowland centers in Posey County, southwestern Indiana.

Varied conclusions were reached, including one that death had laid a heavy hand on the district. Others, however, were of a more optimistic nature. National Guard aviators and persons on the ground bent on rescue work returned to their headquarters today convinced that only a break in the ice jams, permitting ingress by boat, will definitely relieve the situation.

Such break, they declared, might be a matter of days, for the jam at the mouth of the Little Wabash River was declared tonight by Maj. R. F. Taylor, of the 113th Observation Squadron, Indiana National Guard, to be a little worse than it was 24 hours earlier.

Maj. Taylor reported, however, that relief work by four airplanes was successfully carried out over a wide area today. Twenty-eight packages, each containing food and medicine sufficient to keep a family of five for a week, were dropped to persons marooned in their homes.

The airplanes will set out again early tomorrow morning, loaded with food and medicine, in an effort to drop them at places which they did not reach today.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

WHEN a gentleman unashamedly enlists the aid of criticism and enters into the business of Washington for being blind to the legends, hypes and lozenges of the National Capital, he gives a fine and finished imitation of a young champion backing Dams Portage against a wall and daring her to do her worst. In effect, he cries aloud: "Let's fill our city with the clamor of the booster!"

Two thousand American towns and cities are full of that clamor today. The visitor can't go to one and attend a meeting of luncheon club, chamber of commerce, board of trade, sewing circle or debating society without being deluged, buttonholed and harangued by business men who, far from being blind to the attractions of being burg, are smitten with vocal hysterics on the subject.

NO sooner does the stranger seat himself comfortably than a large, muscular gentleman with enormous lung power and a thorax like the Hoozee tunnel takes the platform, thrusts his thumb between the third and fourth buttons of his vest, flings his head back and his hands aloft, smooths his hair, looks close to his bulging brow, lifts up his bull-like roar and straightway becomes a grand rapids of superlatives and a Niagara of brag, blow and bluster.

"My tel-i-low citizens," he begins, "inhabitants of the most beautiful town in the most marvelous State in the most superb republic on the face of a perfect earth, let's get some pep and punch into this meeting."

Let's demonstrate that we are iron-thewed, barrel-chested, double-fluted go-getters who do our best go-getting when we are asked to dig down into the colossal profits we have amassed from the incalculable advantages and immeasurable natural resources of this town, the grandest gold mine opportunity ever laid open to the hustling brain and active mind of enterprising men!

DE RIVERA QUILTS HIS POST IN SPAIN

Rivera himself had indicated on several occasions that he expected to relinquish control of the government in 1930. His chief concern, he stated, was to provide first for a worthy successor and to pave the way for a gradual restoration of constitutional privileges to the citizenry.

Although no armed movement had been begun since the abortive artillery revolt about a year ago, there had been repeated rumors recently of plans to march upon the palace and dislodge the premier during the early hours of Sunday, seeking compensation for the revolution. The premier denied them, but, apparently on the spur of the moment, announced that he would make continuance of his rule dependent upon the will of the chiefs of the army and navy. They had returned no public answer before the resignation today.

In Power Since 1923.

Primo de Rivera swept into power in September, 1923, with the support particularly of the infantry divisions of the army.

Last New Year Primo de Rivera had summed up for the Associated Press what he believed to be the accomplishments of his regime. He emphasized the attempts being made to extend Spanish markets, particularly in the New World, and the efforts to build a great Spanish merchant marine.

The government efforts to stabilize the peso had not met with any great degree of success.

Statement by Primo.

After leaving the royal palace tonight, Primo de Rivera issued this statement:

"The king accepted my resignation and those of all the other ministers. He praised each one and expressed his best wishes to all."

"The king let it be known that it was his wish that all of the ministers would remain aloof from politics while they remain at their posts until such time as the new government would order otherwise."

"The king entrusted formation of the new government to Damascio Berenguer, I am highly pleased with the selection, for there is no man better fitted for the place."

MONEY FOR SPEECH DENIED BY CARAWAY

Witness Says Senator Got $500 for Talk to Importers.

ACCUSATIONS FLY FAST

The Senate lobby investigating committee was thrown into a momentary uproar yesterday when Arthur L. Paubel, secretary of the American Tariff League, asserted that Chairman Caraway (Democrat), Arkansas, had been paid $500 for delivering a speech before the National Council of Importers and Traders. Senator Caraway promptly denied the accusation and characterized it as an "absolute and outrageous falsehood."

The chairman accused Mr. Paubel of having made up the statement to embarrass the committee and Mr. Paubel, in turn, accused the committee of being a "bunch of fools."

For a minute or two there was an interchange of "you did" and "I did not" after the manner of school boys with chips on their shoulders. Then Senator Caraway, in a dignified and courteous manner, announced that the committee's dignity by announcing "we will not go into it further."

Says Witness Available.

Senator Caraway left the room shortly thereafter and did not return. Mr. Paubel remained in the room and stood for an hour longer and after the hearing was over expressed a willingness to substantiate his accusation. He said he thought he could locate a friend in New York who could testify from first-hand knowledge and that he would be glad to bring this friend to Washington for that purpose.

Mr. Paubel also produced a printed circular bearing the name of "Thomas Brady Speaks Bureau, 256 West Forty-fourth Street, New York." In which was listed a dozen or more senators and other prominent persons, who, according to the circular, were available for public speaking engagements at a fixed scale of price.

Inquiry Made at Bureau.

Mr. Paubel said he had made inquiry at the bureau's office and had been told that Senator Caraway's fee for speaking was $500. For this, according to the circular, the senator would speak on such subjects as "The Business Man Any Interest in Politics?" and "Taking the 'Ax' Out of Taxation."

Other senators whose names were listed as being available for speaking included LaGuardia (Republican) of New York; Beck (Republican) of Pennsylvania; McNorton (Democrat) of New Jersey; and Purnell (Republican) of Indiana.

Others Said to Be Listed.

The bureau was also prepared to offer the services of Mr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, or James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, according to the circular.

After the Caraway-Paubel incident, the hearing settled down to an academic discussion between Mr. Paubel and Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, as to whether or not the officials of the American Tariff League were representative of American industry.

The deposition made recently by Francis P. Garvan, former alien property custodian, asserting an attempt by German chemical interests to throttle the American chemical industry, was inserted in the lobby committee's record on demand of Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, after Senator Walsh had announced that references in the deposition to Senator Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, were of such nature that no reflection is cast upon Moses.

10,000 REDS PARADE AT COMRADE'S RITES

Occasionally there would be a banner decrying Katov's "murder" or condemning imperialism, and now and then the marchers would sing. "The union makes us strong!" they would shout and raise their clenched right fist triumphantly. The police who rode alongside and the throngs that watched from the sidewalks and the windows of office buildings looked on placidly. Many of the latter did not even know what it was all about; they thought it was a parade.

The procession was to have gone through the garment district, but the police refused to allow it and also put their feet down on a big demonstration planned in Union Square, opposite Communist Party headquarters. Katov's casket was to have been hoisted up on a platform from which speakers would address the crowd.

But the demonstration simmered down to mere speaking. A score of speakers successively mounted the improvised platforms and gave short talks. The crowd sang the "Internationale" and waited for the casket to be brought out. Communist headquarters, where it had lain in state for four days.

At last the red-covered casket was placed in a hearse. Color bearers carrying both the Stars and Stripes and a Red flag—which, when unfurled, proved to be only a union flag and not a Communist banner—look their place in front of the band. Then came the hearse and the marchers fell in behind.

RAISE IN OIL RATES REJECTED IN SENATE

First of Planned Series of Amendments Defeated by Vote of 49-26.

BLAINE HITS AT LOBBIES

(Associated Press.)

By a vote of 49 to 26, the Senate yesterday turned down the first of what had been planned as a series of amendments to the tariff bill to raise import levies on all vegetable, animal and fish oils and fats to a minimum of 45 per cent ad valorem.

This was the increase favored by farm organizations to protect American farmers from foreign importations, but the test vote today discouraged any further attempts to obtain higher protection than that accorded in the pending bill.

Senator Blaine, Republican independent, of Wisconsin, an opponent of the proposed increase, said those farm organization leaders favoring the higher levies were "tramping the farmer" instead of helping him in this proposition.

Lobby Figures Named.

After naming J. A. Arnold, of the Southern Traffic Association; Chester H. Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation; and Charles W. Holman, of the National Cooperative Milk Producers, Senator Blaine said:

"These are the farmers who are receiving compensation as lobbyists and who entered into an agreement to jack up the rates on oils and fats."

The roll call came on a proposal of Senator Thomas (Republican), of Idaho, to place the 45 per cent duty on castor, hempseed, poppy seed, rapeseed, palm, perilla and sweet almond oils.

One Increase Approved.

Thirty Republicans and 19 Democrats were recorded against the increase, while 15 Republicans, 10 Democrats and the 1 Farmer-Labor senator, Mr. Shipstead, of Minnesota, voted for it.

Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, another who had planned a batch of amendments raising the oil and fat levies, called up only one to raise the tariff on seed, herring and menhaden oils from 15 to 16 cents a gallon—but this was rejected without a roll call.

The only increase approved—and that had the endorsement of the tariff-framing finance committee—would boost the duty on linseed or flaxseed oil from 25 to 45 cents a pound. The Senate previously had raised this levy to 37 cents, but at a later date it increased the duty on flaxseed from 55 to 65 cents a bushel and today's action was to bring the oil rate in line with that on the raw product.

PARLEY COMPLEXITY STRESSED BY GRANDI

Italian Reveals Conflicts of Conference at Dinner of Pilgrims' Society.

TWIN PLANKS—REPEATED

London, Jan. 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The complexities and conflicts of the five-power naval parley were half revealed, like specters at a feast, tonight at a banquet here at which the Pilgrims' Society was host to the chief delegates of the conference powers.

One speaker was raised by Dino Grandi, youthful Italian foreign minister and head of his country's delegation, in replying on behalf of his conference colleagues to a toast to their health proposed by Viscount Grey of Palladin, who presided at the dinner.

Prefacing his remarks by a statement that he was speaking as "a friend to friends, Signor Grandi continued:

"I will go into no details (regarding the conference) when I say that were I to do so, my remarks would become inextricably involved in a multiplicity of viewpoints and in complexities which increase as we proceed to examination of the problems before us."

Italian Desires Repeated.

Elsewhere in his speech Signor Grandi reiterated the twin planks of the Italian conference program—Franco-Italian naval parity and real naval reduction as opposed to merely apparent reduction. Referring to the fact that Andre Tardieu, French premier, had spoken to the naval delegates at a previous banquet at which the Lord Mayor of London was host, Signor Grandi, smiling in the direction of M. Tardieu, who sat but one place away from him, and complimenting the French statesman on his eloquence, said:

"Oratory is the only case in which I don't claim parity." "Actual, not merely apparent reductions—that is what the peoples demand and expect from the London naval conference. They are no longer satisfied with the usual commonplaces, with the glittering generalities of all-too-frequent repeated speeches. The time for all that has gone by."

Cut Hard, Is Plea.

"The peoples desire to hear new voices. They are waiting to compare deeds with words. They will judge us by our work. Armaments must not only be contained and limited; they must be reduced to the lowest possible level."

The Franco-Italian conflict cropped up once again in Signor Grandi's speech as he said in indirect reference to it, "In this, as in all problems of international life, two kinds of needs must be considered—those of a nation and those of international order. Obviously, there can not be an agreement which to some extent does not limit the freedom of those who sign it. But there is a limit to this limitation itself. It consists in securing that equality of opportunity which must always be assured to all countries alike."

Bank Note Firm Opens in Belgrade.

TEXT OF STIMSON'S SPEECH

Paris, sometimes called the Briand-Kellogg pact, by which virtually all the nations of the world renounced war as an instrument of national policy, and agreed in the future to settle their differences only by pacific means.

Urges Belief in Sincerity of All.

In America we believe when we signed the pact that we meant what we said. We should give the credit of equal sincerity to the other nations who aligned with us. In the light of all these circumstances we here, of the American delegation, believe that this is a time when the limitation and reduction of navies should be possible.

A few days ago Mr. MacDonald, the Prime Minister of Great Britain, told you over the radio of the services which Great Britain has already made and the steps she has already taken to accomplish the reduction in her naval armament. America also has already shown her attitude in this cause by similar sacrifices and similar steps.

Eight years ago, when she called the first disarmament conference in Washington, she was engaged in building a fleet of battleships larger and more powerful than those of any other nation in the world. Fifteen of such capital ships were already in the course of construction, and over $350,000,000 had been spent on their construction.

In order to stop naval competition and to put an end to the consequent rivalry, suspicion and fear between the nations which would grow out of such competition, America destroyed all of these new ships, together with thirteen older battleships in her possession, and signed the Washington treaty with Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. This treaty has put an end to all competition in battleships from that day to this between those nations.

U. S. Actions Reassure Japan.

More than this, and with the special purpose of reassuring Japan, America at the same time agreed to stop all work on her naval bases in the Orient and to leave them unfinished and unprotected.

Nothing could have shown better the confidence in Japan, nothing could have shown more fervently that instead of regarding that great country as a menace to herself, she regarded her as a friend and as a stabilizing influence in the Far East which would make for peace in that troubled portion of the world.

The subsequent events have shown that America was right. Japan has responded most cordially to this action and the relations between Japan and America have become more friendly and mutually confident than ever before. Coupled with the Four-Power Pacific Treaty, by which America, Great Britain, France and Japan agreed to respect each other's possessions in the Western Pacific, and to consult together if ever any controversy should arise between them as to these possessions, this action of America and of those other countries of the Pacific has produced a feeling of security in that neighborhood which even the great civil wars on the mainland in China have been unable to disturb.

Relations With Great Britain.

So far as our future relations with Great Britain are concerned, we believe that the most effective way for us to create and maintain the good will between us which we both expect by agreeing with Great Britain to an equal limit upon the total strength of our navies.

The Washington treaty of 1922, to which I have just referred, created such parity between us as to our battleships and airplane carriers. We now seek to extend that parity to all the rest of our respective fleets, a policy with which I am glad to say Great Britain is in entire accord.

Parity between Great Britain and America is not a doctrine of naval rivalry; rather, it is a slogan of mutual confidence, as well as a means of mutual disarmament. We in America know that so long as we have a Navy equal in power and efficiency to Great Britain's navy, with only such minor differences as the differing problems of the two nations make necessary, America has a Navy adequate for its national defense. Furthermore, we know that so long as parity is maintained we can safely reduce our Navy down as far as Great Britain is willing to reduce her navy. Instead of producing rivalry it moves it; instead of arousing apprehension it insures confidence and creates a standard by which both navies can be reduced in safety.

MacDonald's Statement Cleared Air.

Mr. MacDonald's announcement in Washington last December, that Great Britain agreed to this policy of naval parity with America, did more to relieve the feeling of anxiety and irritation which had followed the failure of the naval conference in Geneva in 1927 than any other single event.

We are also interested in the limitation of the navies of France and Italy, for although we have no immediate interest in the Mediterranean, where these countries border on each other, it is nevertheless a fact that every great navy in the world influences every other navy. Therefore, the civility and security of the world and the serenity of mind on which international peace depends can not be fully attained until all nature of competition in naval building is removed by agreements of limitation.

This being the general situation which confronts us and these being the public purposes and motives which actuate us, we are trying to accomplish the following results:

In the first place, we hope to make an agreement with the other foreign nations represented here which will put an end to competition between them in cruisers and destroyers. These vessels are now not covered by any agreements.

Would Like to Abolish Submarines.

In the second place, we should like to abolish submarines. If we can not abolish them, we wish to reduce their number as much as possible, and at the same time to make an agreement which will prevent their being used against merchant vessels in the ruthless and inhuman way in which submarines were used in the last war. Then, we want to reduce the battleship programs below the programs which were provided in the Washington treaty. It is present competition in respect to cruisers, destroyers and submarines which has caused the chief anxiety and irritation during recent years.

An agreement as to them would be the greatest contribution to international good will, and for some countries it would also provide economy. For us the chief economy would lie in the reduction of the battleship programs, for unless that program is reduced, we shall be faced with an expenditure of approximately $300,000,000 on battleships alone in the next six years, and in the following six years thereafter, another $300,000,000.

These are the problems which the American delegation has before it, and on which all the delegations here are at work. We have been getting acquainted with the members of the other delegations and have been studying the conditions of each of their countries which effect their naval programs. The organization of the conference has been effected, and members of our delegation have been holding conferences with each other and with their colleagues from other countries almost all day for every day that we have been here.

We know the other delegations and they know us far better than when we landed here two days ago. We know their problems and their point of view with an intimacy that was impossible before. I think I run no risk in saying for them and for us that we have confidence in each other's determination to make a long step forward in human progress before we leave here, and that that confidence not only augurs well for the success of this naval conference, but for that international good will in the future which is the main object of the conference.

Let me add one little word of caution: some 400 newspaper reporters and representatives are gathered here in London to report this conference, and hardly a day passes but what some excited reporter comes to me with a rumor of some crisis of which he has heard which is going to wreck the conference. Crises make good news, much better news than mere reports of good progress. I can only tell you that thus far every rumor of such a crisis which has come to my ear has been quite unfounded. No such crises have in fact occurred, and nothing but hard work and friendly good will exists among the various gentlemen of the delegations who are getting together every day.

I, therefore, recommend that you be not troubled with reports of crises until they are confirmed by us. We intend to make this conference a success, and we think we can do so. Our own delegation is a unit in energy, good-will and determination to accomplish such a result, and everything that we have seen points to a similar attitude on the part of our colleagues from the other countries.

The members of the American delegation here in one capacity or another went through the great war. Most of us have had to study national defense in the course of our official duties. We are united in believing that national defense, our national interest, peace and prosperity can best be served by naval limitation, and its consequent good will. In the belief that the same agreement which holds out such prospects for us holds equal prospects for the other nations here, we go at our task with the assurance of the support of the people of these five great nations.

Eugenia Bankhead Butt Files Annulment Suit

Reno, Nev., Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Charging her latest husband with fraud and deception, Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead Butt, formerly Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt, has filed action in district court here to have her marriage to Wilfred Butt annulled on the ground that he was not divorced when she married him here a month ago.

Mrs. Butt married Butt soon after her divorce from Michael Hoyt, son of Henry M. Hoyt, former Solicitor General in the Roosevelt and Taft administrations. She recently separated from Butt in Honolulu, where they had gone to spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Butt is a daughter of Representative Bankhead, of Alabama. Butt was a student at the University of Nevada and at the time of their marriage was employed in a soft drink parlor here.

Vienna, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Bucharest say that the wedding of Princess Ileana, daughter of Dowager Queen Marie, to Count Alexander of Tisa has been fixed for the second half of February.

have already agreed as to what is to be said. According to M. Tardieu, only the "tremendous reservation" will be formulated by Signor Grandi will be interesting and the proceedings will probably last about 20 minutes.

Wakatsuki Shows Annoyance.

The Japanese and British delegations met today and Mr. MacDonald remained firm against the 7 to 10 cruiser rate which Japan demands. Former Premier Raishiro Wakatsuki, at a press conference, expressed surprise and annoyance at the lack of sympathy with Japan's ratio demand and asked newspapermen if they could tell him why Great Britain is so cold toward the Japanese.

This text is the same as that put forward at Geneva and the French are willing that negotiations of changes be exchanged between the contracting parties as well as deposited with the league.

Other Work Goes Forward.

It would be a mistake to assume that other important work of the conference is at a standstill during discussion of the French proposal explained above. Even on battleships, which the United States declines to discuss, the French proposal is being worked out. Other subjects are settled, there have been important, if entirely informal, talks between experts as well as delegates.

French-Italian Controversy Shunted.

The device of shunting the opposed French and Italian plans on how to tackle the limitation problem by appointing a committee to deal with it represents Mr. Stimson's and Mr. MacDonald's method of getting rid of an interminable controversy which both felt was wasting time.

The exact nature of the compromise French proposal, which now takes priority on the conference agenda, became clear when it was stated that it is on the same lines as that put forward before the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations at Geneva in April, 1927.

Tardieu has submitted a table under three headings. Under the first heading he proposes each nation should announce the tonnage it considers essential "for purposes of security and the defense of national interests." Neither the United States, Great Britain nor Italy are willing to fill in this blank, and it is probable that this part of the French scheme, the least important, has already in fact been dropped.

Vital Issue Is Presented.

The second and third columns in the French table represent a vital issue affecting all nations and the fate of the conference. Column two is headed: "Tonnage to be completed before the expiration of the convention." Column three is headed: "Division into total tonnage by groups of the total tonnage stated in column two." In this column are four sub-headings: (a) Capital ships, (b) aircraft carriers, (c) vessels under 10,000 tons and (d) submarines.

On the Rules of Traffic By WILLIAM ULLMAN

While the streets are intended for the use of all kinds of vehicles, the traffic regulations are drawn to prevent them from obstructing each other. This is done in connection with street cars which are given the right of way on their tracks over all except fire, police and other emergency vehicles.

There is a specific provision in the code which requires ordinary traffic moving in front of a street car to turn out on signal from the motor-man.

Example: A driver is moving ahead of a street car on his way up Fourteenth street northwest. The motor-man sounds his bell, but the motorist keeps his position. He has violated the law and may be arrested and fined.

the numbers of ships it proposes to construct under column three within the tonnage in column two, but France again suggests, "each of the high contracting parties, while keeping within the limits of total tonnage stated in column two, can alter such division as it deems necessary for its security subject to informing the secretariat of the League of Nations of changes brought to the division of its total tonnage at least one year before laying down the portion of tonnage which is to be transferred."

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

It always seems to be the case, the Americans are being out-manuevered by the British so far as publicity is concerned at the London naval conference. As has seldom been the case before, however, the French also seem to be getting their case before the bar of public opinion with considerable ability, in sharp contrast with the procedure at the Washington conference eight years ago.

Despite the clamor of some of the American newspaper correspondents, however, President Hoover is not particularly disturbed, despite his normal sensitiveness to criticism. For one thing, the situation in London so far has not approached the stage of blame fixing or mud throwing. At the present moment the British and French are merely laying the foundation. Premier MacDonald and other big fellows in the British delegation are receiving the press at regular intervals, and giving the view of the case in advance, and giving the opinion of the peoples of other countries as to the United States is concerned, if this Government had been able to put a better foot forward, so to speak, it is an art at which the British have come to excel. Now, apparently, the French have learned the bitter lesson from the Washington conference, and are following the British example.

The French, virtually for the first time, are doing the same thing. They learned their lesson at Washington, when almost every piece of news reached the press through the British, and with precisely the slant which the British wanted put on it. This included all sorts of items which originated in other delegations, notably, for example, the four-power Pacific pact to supersede the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which was conceived by Charles E. Hughes, but reached the newspapers via the British Embassy.

Secretary of State Stimson, on the other hand, takes the position that he will see the newspapers when he regards it as necessary. It is a safe bet that he will not think it is necessary half as often as Mr. MacDonald, and also that there will be other British spokesmen who will see to it that no day goes by without some interesting angle, the printing of which will advance British interests, reaching the newspapers. All of which may be very difficult to combat if it should so happen toward the end of this conference that there should be a little blame fixing in order.

Spanish War Veterans Pension Raise Is Urged

(Associated Press.) Gov. Owen of Michigan, commander in chief of the Spanish War Veterans, urged the House pensions committee yesterday to approve the Knutson bill to increase to $50 a month the pension of Spanish War veterans 50 years of age or over. The present pension varies from $30 to $50.

For veterans requiring regular aid and attendance of another person, the bill would provide an increase from $72 to $90. All veterans 62 years of age would get $65 a month. The same rate also would apply to those totally disabled but not requiring an attendant.

President Hoover's chief thought is that the conference must be a success. If it should accomplish what he hopes and believes it will, there will be glory enough for all, and no one will be able to take the credit away from his administration which it deserves. On the other hand, if it should prove a failure, it will fall, in his opinion, only because this or that nation interposed unreasonable objections—objections which will not be approved by the public opinion of the world.

No amount of propaganda spread before the world during this preliminary stage, it is thought, can possibly prevent the newspapers covering that conference from finding out the real reasons for failure if failure should come. Then, and not now will be the time for talking, in the administration view.

But while this may be good logic in this particular case, there have been many occasions when it would have been far better, so far as the opinion of the peoples of other countries as to the United States is concerned, if this Government had been able to put a better foot forward, so to speak. It is an art at which the British have come to excel. Now, apparently, the French have learned the bitter lesson from the Washington conference, and are following the British example.

The British learned their lesson during the early years of the World War, while the United States was still neutral, and learned it right in Washington. At that time most of the news about all the negotiations leaked to the press through Count Johan von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador. No matter how strongly pro-Ally a newspaper's editorial policy might be, its news columns were a megaphone for Bernstorff's propaganda for the simple reason that he, and he alone, was giving out the news. So he could color it to suit himself.

In the present instance President Hoover, highly optimistic as to the prospects of this conference being a success, would far rather have the French and British in a good humor by getting their propaganda over than to get an American slant put on the news. He wants friendly cooperation, and will worry about public opinion later on. If he succeeds he will get it anyhow. If he fails he believes the blame will be placed properly despite the intervening propaganda.

TRIBUTE IS PLANNED FOR ARCTIC AVIATORS

MILITARY RITES ASKED

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Although word of the finding of the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic aviator, and Earl Borland, his mechanic, in their supposed tomb of ice and snow on the Siberian tundra still was lacking here today, a movement was begun to accord the fliers a final tribute if the searchers sent out by air and land from North Cape, Siberia, and Teller, Alaska, are successful in their quest.

The demolished plane of the Americans was found by Joe Crosson, 90 miles southeast of North Cape Saturday. The bodies of the aviators are expected to be found in snowdrifts around the plane.

Alfred J. Lomen, director of the Aviation Corporation's rescue expedition, who dispatched two cabin planes from Teller yesterday to bring the bodies back to Alaska, today urged that a Coast Guard cutter be sent to Alaska to carry the fliers back to the States. Lomen also suggested that Eielson, who has a World War record, and who won international fame by his daring flight with Sir George H. W. Wilkins over the Arctic "blind spot," be buried in Arlington Cemetery with full military honors.

Lomen declared there remained no possibility that Eielson and Borland were still alive. Relatives of the men also have given up hope. Ole Eielson, father of the aviator, planned to leave Grand Forks, N. Dak., tonight on his way north to receive the body.

The wireless aboard the ships frozen in the ice at North Cape is the only means of communication from the region where the plane was found. Word of the finding of the bodies can not be sent to the outside world until planes fly either to North Cape or Teller. Eielson and Borland were flying from Teller to North Cape November 9 when they were lost.

Customer Is Shot Dead In Bank Holdup Battle

Oakland, Calif., Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Joe Fox, real estate man and a special deputy sheriff, was killed today during the holdup of the Broadway and Twentieth Branch Bank of the American Trust Co. Fox, who was in the bank as a customer at the time, was shot when he opened fire on the two robbers.

The men, one armed with a revolver and the other with an automatic pistol, forced two bank clerks into a closet, not observing Fox concealed by a corner of a wall. When Fox started firing they wheeled and several shots were exchanged before he fell. The two robbers then backed to the street, where they escaped in an automobile.

HOOPER DEMOCRAT DEFIES FLORIDA BAN

State Senator, Who Bolted in Last Election, Announces His Candidacy.

MAKES REPLY TO RULING

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 28 (A.P.).—State Senator Edgar W. Waybright, leading Hoover-Democrat in the last presidential campaign, today announced his defiance of any movement to interpret the State election laws as barring him from seeking re-nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Waybright's announcement came soon after Attorney General Fred H. Davis, replying to a query from a citizen, said that Hoover Democrats would not be eligible to seek nomination in Democratic primaries if the election law is interpreted literally.

Conceding that the Attorney General had not pronounced any official opinion as to the law but had left it to the courts to decide, Mr. Waybright differed from the interpretation made by the State official.

Mr. Waybright said it was true that the law specified that any candidate for nomination must take an oath that he had not voted for a candidate of another party at the previous general election, but that was clear, when the law was considered as a whole, no penalty would apply to the person who voted for Herbert Hoover on the one hand and the whole State Democratic ticket on the other.

Boulder Dam Plan Of Wilbur Fought

Senators Attack Granting of Waterpower to Private Interests.

The proposal of Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the Interior, to allot the waterpower developed at Boulder dam to private public utility interests, it was charged in the Senate yesterday, amounts to virtual nullification of the act by which Congress authorized the huge project at a cost of $165,000,000. The Southern California Edison Co. is the chief beneficiary under the Wilbur allocation plan.

The charges were made by Senators Norris (Republican), of Nebraska, and Johnson (Republican), of California, who in his turn served notice of determination of having more to say at the proper time of "this obvious decision of Secretary Wilbur to thwart the intent of Congress to give the States and municipalities the reference in the power allocation."

Referring to Secretary Wilbur's order on Boulder Dam as additional evidence of the tendency of the executive departments of the Government to flout the will of Congress and in effect repeal its acts, Senator Norris asserted that Boulder Dam project was approved only with the understanding that communities were to have final call on the water.

The same provision, he added had been written into the Federal water power act, and neither bill could have become a law without them.

Mrs. Stanley Rinehart, whose professional name, Mary Roberts Rinehart, is a household word, proposes to leave Washington shortly for the West on business for the Public Lands Commission, of which she is the only woman member, one of her errands being the investigation of the proposed transfer of certain domains in the Rocky Mountain section. Mrs. Rinehart spent yesterday in Philadelphia, the guest of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania, at Hannah Penn House. MODERN woman's idea of an apron is one that is quite as attractive as a pretty cotton morning frock. Interpreted in soft fabric of a becoming color.

The Style No. 8151 sketched wins approval because of its simplicity, practicality and daintiness. It is of shiny finish cotton broadcloth in yellow-ivory ground with brown motifs.

Plain bias folds of plain brown
broadcloth form a border on skirt
and trim neckline, pocket and deep armholes.

It comes in small, medium and large sizes. In the medium size, it takes but 3 yards of 22-inch matterial with 7 yards of bias binding.
The saving is great, and you have an apron that will withstand repeated laundering because it's made of a good fabric which may easily be found on the remnant counter at a drastic reduction.

To make it! Practically all you have to do is to cut it out and finish with bias binding for trimming. The back and front cut all in one piece. The front is cut in from either side along perforated line and lower edge gathered and joined to the upper edge.

Linen, pique, percale in gay stripes,
eaten, novelty crepes, rayon, pongee
and dimity appropriate.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department,
The Washington Post, 250 Fifth Ave., New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

Garnett, a leader of the Washington bar, and granddaughter of one of this city's famous physicians.

One of the most interesting events
of the week will be the indoor show, which is being given by the Biding and Hunt Club on Saturday,
at 8 o'clock.

Ribbons and cups will be given for each class. The prizes have been generously donated by Mr. William Phillips, Col. Robert M. Thompson, Mr.
Hugh Legare and Miss Margo Cou-seins, daughter of Senator and Mrs.
James Coussins.

The judges for the show will be Dr.
L. M. Allen, of Berryville, and Mr.
Frank Gaskin, of Warrenton, Va.

3 things to stop a cold "Pape's" does them all!

Now, just a pleasant tablet and relief for your cold begins. Instantly. And Pape's Cold Compound relieves all symptoms of colds. It does the three things any doctor will tell you are necessary to check a cold.

"Pape's" reduces irritation and swelling of the nasal lining. So breathing becomes easy; discharge stops; the head clears. "Pape's"
encourages perspiration; banishes
that aching, feverish, weak feeling which is due to inactivity of the pores. "Pape's" kills cold germs;
opens the bowels; takes germs
and the acid-waters of colds right out of your system.

Next time a cold starts, try Pape's Cold Compound and learn the reason for its tremendous sales and popularity. Just remember the name, "Pape's". All drugstores—25c.

COURT GRANTS FOX FINANCIAL RESPIRE

Two Weeks' Period Allowed to Rearrange Affairs of Film Company.

BANKS WORK ON PLANS

New York, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—William Fox today received a two weeks' respite in which to rearrange the tangled financial affairs of his film and theater enterprises in an attempt to escape threatened receivership.

During those two weeks banks involved can not execute any judgments against Mr. Fox or his interests, and no alienation of any property may be undertaken. Neither are consent judgments against Mr. Fox or his interests permitted, nor is Mr. Fox or his interests permitted to make application for voluntary receivership, unless Judge Coleman first is notified and all parties concerned are given an opportunity to be heard.

While this move was being thrashed out, two default judgments against the film corporation, totaling $590,246, including interest, were filed in the county clerk's office by the Corn Exchange Bank & Trust Co. and the Bankers Trust Co. Both are based on notes. The Corn Exchange Bank's judgment is for $392,000, and the Bankers Trust Co.'s for $298,246.

The refinancing plan is being worked out by Lehman Bros., BancAmerica, Blair & Co. and Dillon, Read & Co. Judge Coleman set February 11 as the date for their reappearance. Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mr. Fox, said all parties concerned had signed the voting trust agreement. These include the Fox Film Corporation, the Fox Theater Corporation, Mr. Fox, other holders of the class B common stock, and the voting trustees, Herbert P. Powell, Edward C. DeLafayette and Bernard Baruch.

The agreement also provides that Elmer S. Higgins, vice president of the Bank of America, shall be elected a fourth trustee.

FATAL PLANE CRASH TO BE INVESTIGATED

of the wreck from the scene of the crash.

Believed Effect "Was Bad."

Less said he would report his findings to the Department of Commerce, without making them public.

"We are trying to sell aviation to the public and the wreckage of a plane flying around for people to stare at has a bad effect," he said in explaining his action in authorizing dismantling of the wreck.

Witnesses said Pilot Laidman had turned into the wind to make a landing at Fairfax Airport here at the end of his flight from Wichita, Kan., when the plane got out of control and crashed to the ground, immediately bursting into flames.

President Watkins said that the fact that the plane had been in the air slightly more than two hours before the crash indicated "proper performance" of the craft.

E. L. Sloniger, branch manager of the Universal Aviation Corporation, who was in charge of salvaging the plane, admitted today that he hoped that no photographs be taken of the wreck, but denied responsibility for the actions of workers who cursed, threatened and hampered newspaper photographers.

Five in Calhoun Case Reindicted

Grand Jury Acts After Bills Previously Returned Were Voided.

The District of Columbia grand jury yesterday reindicted five persons on charges of alleged conspiracy to blackmail Mrs. Daisy B. Calhoun and Capt. C. C. Calhoun, socially prominent Washingtonians.

The quintet, W. Clarke Noble, sculptor; his wife, Mrs. Emilie B. Noble; Anna M. Hillenbrand, Stephen A. Armstrong and James F. Bird—were indicted several months ago, but the case was re-presented when Armstrong filed a plea in abatement to the indictment.

Allegations in the indictment are the same as those made in the first indictment—that the five persons named in the indictment attempted to blackmail the Calhouns in connection with the operation of the Woman's Universal Alliance, an organization in which the Calhouns are said to be officers.

Unknown Woman Cited In Wife's Divorce Plea

Mrs. Dorothy E. Taylor, of 1401 Columbia road northwest, filed suit yesterday in District of Columbia Superior Court against her husband, Robert Taylor, said to be an employee of the National Museum, seeking an absolute divorce.

Mrs. Taylor alleges that she left her apartment to go to Baltimore and that upon her return she was unable to enter. She states that she called the janitor and that after the door was forced she discovered her husband in pajamas and that a woman was hiding in a closet. All her efforts to determine the name of the other woman were unavailing, she states.

Beast Hunters Are Urged To Work With Opportunity

Director of Post Campaign Points Out Advantages of Employing Spare Time, With Prospect of Better Returns Than Chasing Phantom Panther.

"Our $20,000 opportunity campaign is now running along so smoothly," announced old man Opportunity as he dropped into the city room for his evening chat, "that I have been able to devote some of my time to other projects today."

"For instance, I have been rounding up all the big game hunters in Washington and nearby territory and C. D. Chance has been pointing out to them the great game they will catch if they run down the elusive Northeast panther."

"Did they answer my knock? Boy, the woods are full of big game hunters. I never realized before that there were a sufficient number of panthers in the world to support such a number of hunters who specialize in their particular species of carnivore (get that, it's a 23c word.)"

"My father's a hunter, too," chirped the office boy. "When he left the house this morning he was singing, 'Bye, Baby Bunting, Daddy's gone a-hunting—a-hunting for a pair of gypsies who gave him all those market tips.'"

"Tell your father to devote his attention to hunting new subscribers for The Washington Post and his spare time will be more profitable," instructed the old man. "He is evidently another of those who have confused me with my arch-enemy, Mr. A. Gamble."

This $20,000 opportunity campaign, "Now, understand, I often knock with a proposition to buy stock but only when I have it backed up with good security. I call that an 'investment' while all Gamble has to offer is 'speculation.' The Post asks men and women to invest their spare time in securing subscriptions and pays dividends in magnificent prizes or in cash commissions."

"If you know of any other method by which a man could receive a dividend of approximately $4,000, represented by a Cadillac sedan, in exchange for an investment of a few weeks of spare time, let me know about it. And remember," he added, "that nonprize winners are liberally paid for new subscriptions which they secure."

"By the way," he said, as he started to strap on a pair of roller skates, "you might help me out a little by reminding any one whom you see that this is entry week in my great campaign. We're giving 100,000 extra votes, too, for every $20 worth of new subscriptions turned in by 9 p. m. on February 19. This gives new entrants a splendid opportunity to force themselves to the forefront in the race right at the start."

With a graceful spread-eagle and a roar of wheels, the old man was off down the corridor with his white whiskers waving a graceful adieu over his shoulders.

Man Indicted in Murder Case.

Murder in the first degree is charged in an indictment returned yesterday by the District of Columbia grand jury against Isaiah Potter, colored. Potter is charged with having slain Stanley T. Williams, colored, last December 10, at 1719 Ninth street northwest.

The Washington Post Bible Distribution

Following the most distressing period of unrest the world has ever known, comes a world-wide revival of Bible reading, which must tend to ameliorate the unrestful conditions of mankind. To encourage such an end, leading newspapers throughout this country have joined forces to promote the distribution of the Great Book of Books, and have adopted a plan that should readily place the Bible in the hands of every reader. Two exclusive editions have been chosen for this purpose—first, the famous large print Center-Reference Bible, illustrated herein, and a beautiful plain print, medium large type edition that will be distributed for a nominal sum.

The Question of the Universe

This Bible—this miraculous Bible—this Book of All Books—luminous with the light that dwelleth not on land or sea—this noblest and most beautiful Thing in all the world—what is it—whence cometh it—what means it?

It has made and unmade Nations. It has uprooted Kingdoms and Empires. It has diverted the mighty tides of History. It has crumpled ancient Faiths and Superstitions. Because of it fell Pagan Rome. The antique Systems of India and the Far East have bowed their heads to its enlightened sway.

China and the Orient now first awaken from their sleep of thrice a thousand years, and follow their sister nations of the Occident—whose feet are guided by one sole lamp—the sacred flame of which was kindled by the inspired Hebrew Prophets, and fed for all time by the Lord and Master of the Golden Rule.

Only ignorance scoffs at the Bible! The greatest rulers—the greatest statesmen—the greatest scholars—writers—orators—scientists—soldiers—and the untold millions of the Common People, whose collective genius outweighs them all—have thrilled to its Divine Wisdom.

Its lyrics of unfathomable tenderness—its orations of compelling potency—its contemplative prose of preternatural grandeur—have never been equalled. Its emotional depths and its intellectual heights make it the one and only Book of Books, vouchsafed for the guidance of mankind throughout the ages.

AUDIENCE APPLAUDS NEW YORK CONCERT

Molinari Scores Conducting Philharmonic Symphony Group in Capital.

MRS. HOOVER ATTENDS

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, headed a distinguished audience which heard the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra play one of the most noteworthy concerts given this season at Constitution Hall yesterday afternoon, with Bernardino Molinari as leader.

Senior Molinari, whose international reputation as a musician had preceded him to Washington, proved to be a conductor of dynamic force.

The audience was most enthusiastic throughout, but at the conclusion of the Beethoven Symphony No. 4 in B-flat major its delight was manifested in a veritable ovation. The adagio movement was played with a delicacy of tone beauty and interpretation.

Senior Molinari also conducted a "Concerto in A Minor" by Vivaldi from an edition prepared by himself, while a novelty was afforded in a suite from the ballet "La Gloriosa" by Casella. A tenor solo by Dan Gridley and the stirring "Ride of the Valkyries" ended the program.

The third concert of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra will take place on March 4 in Constitution Hall, with Arturo Toscanini as conductor.

"O Promise Me"

At some time in her life Cupid pleads to every attractive woman. No matter what her features are, a woman who is sickly cannot be attractive. Sallow skin, pimples, sunken eyes, lifeless lips—these are repellent. DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY is just the tonic a run-down person needs. It enriches the blood, soothes the nerves and imparts tone and vivacity to the entire system.

You can procure the "Discovery" in liquid or tablets, at any drug store. One who has used it has this to say:

"When I was a girl I was very sickly, pale and thin, weak—had no strength, no appetite—felt drowsy and heavy. I had very poor blood, my system was full of poison! My mother started giving me Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it drove out the poison from my system. My appetite came back, I gained both in weight and strength. I have never had any more boils or breaking out since, which proves that the 'Golden Medical Discovery' makes pure, rich blood." Mrs. W. H. Talhelm, 235 Alexander St., Hagers town, Md.

Send 10c for an acquaintance package of Golden Medical Discovery tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free medical advice.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

GUS MCCUNE, the old advance man of a thousand productions, comes to town announcing a heavy Shakespearean repertoire with Mr. Fritz Leiber holding forth at Polli's the week of February 10. The line-up is as follows: "Hamlet," "King Lear," "Othello," "Twelfth Night," "Merchant of Venice," "Julius Caesar," "As You Like It" and "Richard III."

Next week "Blossom Time" comes to town for what Mr. Frank McGrath, the well-known press agent, declares will be positively the farewell appearance of this old opera. "Blossom Time" is a strange to call "Blossom Time" an old opera, when "Robin Hood" is really older, but "Blossom Time" for some reason or other, seems to be as old as any of them. This is perhaps because ever since its premiere here some nine years ago it has failed to miss a season.

Porty persons from the "Robin Hood" Company went out to Walter Reed Hospital yesterday afternoon and entertained the patients. Evans, who plays Little John, ripped off a couple of songs, and so did the rest of the troupe, all making for merriment in shut-in Bay.

As a rule the movies have the upper hand on the theater, taking away all the great stars and some not so great. Now comes Mr. Flo Ziegfeld and reverses the procedure. He has signed a contract with Mr. Nacio Herb Brown, the champion theme song writer of them all. The understanding is that this fellow is to furnish the score of a musical comedy for next season's production. When it

Jury Finds Youth Guilty and He Is Sentenced to Die March 15.

Bolivar, Tenn., Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Less than nine minutes were required today for a circuit court jury here to find Carey Quinn, 21-year-old Negro, guilty of assaulting a white girl. The judge immediately sentenced him to death in the electric chair. March 15. The case went to trial at 10 a. m. testimony was begun at 3 p. m. and a verdict reached at 5:30 p. m.

National Guardsmen, who protected the Negro during the trial, left with the prisoner for Memphis soon after sentence was pronounced. Adj. Gen. Boyd had command of the troops. More than 500 spectators crowded into the little courtroom. Each was searched for weapons before being admitted by soldiers.

Quinn attacked the girl late last year, stabbing and assaulting her. Sheriff A. W. Nealey, of Hardman County, outwitted two mobs to take him safely to jail in Memphis. There he confessed.

Fugitive in Ohio Killing Held in Arkansas Jail

Texarkana, Ark., Jan. 28 (A.P.).—Sheriff Fred Magee was told over telephone today by the chief of police at Canton, Ohio, that Harry Reeling, 35, in prison here, was wanted in Canton on a charge of killing a man in a confectionery store in 1926. AT THE AUTOMOBILE SHOW

A distinguished exhibition of fine coachwork on the notable Lincoln chassis

To the person really interested in motor cars as fine as any that can be constructed, the display at the Automobile Show of fine coachwork on precision-built Lincoln chassis will repay a visit. There are new body types, carefully considered additions to the regular Lincoln group, that represent the last word in point of design and equipment in both closed and open cars.

This exhibit is of particular interest, for the cars on display embody three carefully tested chassis developments that materially increase Lincoln ease of operation and riding quality. These developments are in line with the Lincoln policy of having no yearly models; but of steadily developing the car in all its parts, and adding these developments whenever they are perfected.

THE LINCOLN

A clear skin is irresistible!

You can feel the re-juvenating effect S.S.S. brings the body by the increase of red-blood-cells.

A clear, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness. Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

YOUR popularity may depend upon a clear, smooth, lovely skin. It is the accepted way of telling the degree of health a person possesses. Naturally a skin which bespeaks health attracts.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin blemishes, lack of appetite, flabby flesh and loss of energy as an indication that the body's power of resistance is low—that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to infection and disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh and clearing the skin.

S.S.S. promotes healthy body building. It increases the number of red-blood-cells. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Thousands have turned to S.S.S. when the appetite first signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy. Purely vegetable. Easily assimilated. Pleasant to take.

Bridge Game Over Radio Is Explained

Saying, "To Be Bridge Expert You Must Know Conventions and When to Break Them," Held Proved.

The old saying that "To be a bridge expert you must know the conventions and when to break them" was proven true again in the eleventh of Million C. Work's radio bridge games, broadcast yesterday afternoon from station WRC, with Mrs. E. G. Pimm, of Montreal, Canada; Mrs. William C. Ryan, of San Antonio, Tex.; and E. J. Tobin, of Chicago, as players.

The cards were: Mrs. Pimm, dealer, South: Spades, A, 5, 4, 3; Hearts, 4, 2; Diamonds, A, K, 8, 4; Clubs, A, K, 5. Mr. Barclay, West: Spades, K, J, 9, 7, 6; Hearts, Q, 7; Diamonds, 9; Clubs, Q, 9, 8, 4. Mr. Tobin, North: Spades, 8; Hearts, A, K, 10, 9, 3; Diamonds, 7, 5, 2; Clubs, 7, 6, 3, 2. Mrs. Ryan, East: Spades, Q, 10, 10, 2; Hearts, J, 6, 5; Diamonds, Q, J, 10, 8, 3; Clubs, J, 10.

Mrs. Pimm, South, opened the Auction with one No Trump, preferring it to her alternative bid of one Diamond because of five sure tricks in her hand, and only four cards in the Diamond suit, the one Diamond bid would not have portrayed the strength of her hand adequately. Mr. Barclay, West, passed. Mr. Tobin, North, said "two Hearts," a bid that was neither a rescue nor a warning, but merely an indication to his partner that he held a five-card suit and strength for the No Trump. In a case like this, the strength may be either in the suit named, as in this instance, or on the side, or in both places; and such a bid urges a rebid of the No Trump if the No Trump lacks support for the major suit. The fact that North's hand contained a singleton in favor of the suit-bid. After North's two-Heart call, Mrs. Ryan, East, passed.

Mrs. Pimm, South, delighted with her partner's Heart bid, which took care of her only No Trump weakness, went to two No Trumps, which held the bid. To the first trick Mr. Barclay, West, led the 7 of Spades, the fourth-best of his longest and strongest suit. Mr. Tobin, North, spread his hand for Dummy, and Declarer, Mrs. Pimm, played from it the singleton 8 of Spades. Mrs. Ryan, East, knew from the fourth-best lead (using the Rule of Eleven) that there were four Spades higher than the 7 which were not held by her partner. She saw three of the four—8 of Spades in Dummy, and the Queen and 10 in her own hand. . . . So she knew Declarer had the Ace. Although it was probable that Declarer's Ace card was higher than the 7 which was either the Ace or King, there was a chance that it was the Jack; so she prevented any possibility of the trick being won with a Jack. Mrs. Ryan played her Queen.

Mrs. Pimm, the Declarer, could not tell whether the Queen or King were evenly or unevenly divided between the two adverse hands; but she decided to hold up her only stopper in the suit in an endeavor to exhaust East. If that hand had less than four so to the first trick Mrs. Pimm played the 7 of Spades. To the second trick, Mrs. Ryan, East, returned the Spades, leading the 10, the higher of her two remaining cards of the suit. Mrs. Pimm played the four; Mr. Barclay, West, played the four; and Mrs. Ryan, East, played the four. Mr. Barclay discarded the Deuce of Diamonds.

Mr. Barclay played his Jack because he was not certain that his partner had another Spade, although he thought it unlikely that Declarer had held five originally, as with five Spades in her hand and no Heart strength, she hardly would have bid an initial No Trump. But to make sure that Spades would be continued, Mr. Barclay thought it best to overtake his partner's 10. To the next trick Mrs. Pimm played the 6 of Spades, to show his partner that his fourth-best was not his lowest, and that he had at least five originally. Dummy, North, discarded the 5 of Diamonds. Mrs. Ryan, East, played the Deuce of Spades; and Mrs. Pimm, South, won with the Ace.

Now in the lead, Declarer could count seven sure tricks. The Heart suit seemed to offer the best chance of giving her the two more tricks she needed for game. To the third trick, Mrs. Pimm led the 4 of Hearts, intending to play the 9 from Dummy if West played a small Heart. This lead caused Mr. Barclay, West, to consider carefully; should he make the natural play of one of his small Hearts, he was sure Dummy would finesse, and his partner, doubtless holding the Jack, since Declarer did not lead it, would win the trick. But Mr. Barclay's own Queen would then fall on one of Dummy's high Hearts and Declarer would make four Heart tricks, which probably would give her game. So Mr. Barclay departed from the convention "second hand low" and made the unusual second hand play of his Queen of Hearts. In making this play he also took into consideration the probability, as shown by the bidding, that Declarer had only two Hearts. If she had had only a worthless singleton, she would not have bid the initial No Trump. If she had had three Hearts, she would have passed her partner's Heart bid.

Declarer could not afford to let Mr. Barclay's Queen win, because he then would cash his two established Spades and save game; therefore she played Dummy's King of Hearts. East played the 3. It looked to Declarer as if Mr. Barclay had held the Queen-Jack and another Heart, and had played the Queen to prevent the finesse which would have established Dummy's Hearts, and also as a false card to induce Declarer to refuse a finesse on the second round of the suit. So Declarer planned to return to her own hand to lead Hearts again through Mr. Barclay's hand. East led the Deuce of Clubs. West played the 10, Declarer, South, the Ace (a false card) and West the 8 of Clubs. Declarer then led the Deuce of Hearts, West played the 7, Dummy the 9 and East the Jack. This finesse cost Mrs. Pimm a Heart trick because she was unable to put Dummy in again; but it was a play fully justified by the development of the hand. Any other would have been against the probabilities. To trick seven, East led the Queen of Diamonds. Declarer played the 6; West the 9; Dummy the 7. East continued Diamonds with the Jack; Declarer played the Ace; West the 8 of Hearts; Dummy the Trey of Clubs. West's refusal of a Diamond on this trick showed Declarer that the establishment of a long Diamond was the hand was hopelessly hopeless. However, the effect of a squeeze play sometimes produces weird results, so Mrs. Pimm, determining to fight on to the end for an extra trick, led the 6 of Spades to trick nine, knowing the result could not prove expensive as West had only two Spades left. West played the 9 of Spades; Dummy the 6 of Clubs; East the 8 of Hearts. West then took his King of Spades, Dummy discarding the Trey of Hearts. East played the 5 of Diamonds and Declarer the 5 of Clubs.

To trick eleven, West led the 8 of Clubs. Dummy played the 7, East the Jack and Declarer won with the King. Declarer won the twelfth trick with the King of Diamonds, which East left with a small Diamond, which East won on the last trick with the 10. Declarer's contract was set two tricks, giving declarer 100 points for the penalty, while North and South scored 40 for Aces.

Mr. Work, in commenting on the hand, approved Mrs. Pimm's No Trump bid and rebid, even though it resulted unfortunately. Also her play of the Hearts was sound and to be commended regardless of the result. Of course, the star play of the hand was Mr. Barclay's Queen of Hearts on the first round of that suit. Mr. Work considered that the Contract bidding of this hand would give the dealer an optional opening of one No Trump or two Diamonds, but in either case he considered it probable that North and South would arrive at three No Trumps; the play in both games the same.

HOME BRIDGE CONTEST.
THIS is the third day of the Home Bridge Contest. Even if you have not participated on two preceding days it is not too late to start today. Each day write your answers to the questions of that day, keep them, and next week when the correct answers are published, note how many you have right. Make a home contest of it by getting your family and friends to write their answers; match the answers from your home against those prepared in your friend's home, and compare results next week. The questions ask what the play should be in an actual game; do not permit your answer to be affected by knowledge which you would not have at the table concerning the location of any card.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints
INDOOR SUN BATHS AT OPEN WINDOW.
(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)
A sun bath can be given indoors at a window opened at top or bottom, the baby being placed in the patch of sunlight coming through the open space. It is thus possible to produce tanning. If the room is heated, the baby need not be wrapped up warmly. "It may not be possible to expose the whole body to the sun, but the face, hands and legs can be exposed daily for increasing periods. The periods of exposure should be longer than the summer outdoor periods, and they should be between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m., when the rays are most intense. Winter and fall babies need long sun baths, as they are more likely to develop severe rickets than those born in the spring and summer. If a baby is used to indoor sun baths, he can be started on outdoor ones by March 1, or even earlier, depending on the climate and the weather.

INTERPRETS the MODE

mind of those worn by orphan children in convent schools—or others seem to resemble those of the old-time coachmen who drove the carriages of aristocracy. If you can remember back that far. "I suppose you can," grumbles El Secretaire Gallant into his half-inch beard.

After having paid their January calls, Parisiennes emigrate to the lands of sunshine—Morocco, Tunis and Egypt, especially. And crossing the Mediterranean is a delightful trip. And the most popular style of dress for this voyage is a pleated skirt, pulled over and coat like an officer's with either a cap to match or a "Basque берет." (Yeah—I went once.)

There's another one. It's Louiseboulanger's smart suit dress, ever so like the one we designed for you Saturday. Coat and skirt of black crepe lovely blouse of printed chiffon—and with the jacket buttoned tightly it looks exactly like a one-piece dress with a fancy lingerie touch at the neck.

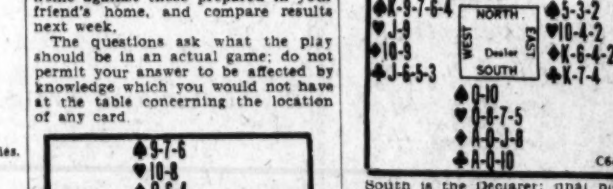

O-o-o-o, let's make a suit. No, it's not a suit, it's a dress—well, what is it? Name it and you can have it, that is, if you send a stamped-self-addressed envelope to the Dore Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet that tells you how to make it. It's awfully new, and terrifically practical—because it's several dresses in one. Each one is distinctively its own dress and doesn't bear the slightest resemblance to the last one.

Fashion French.
Incarnation (an-cru-stah-see-on)—inlay, piece set in. Inusable (an-uh-zahl)—durable, wears well. Irrefragable (ear-reh-tray-see-sahl)—unshrinkable. Ivory (ee-veer)—ivory. Jabot (zhah-bo)—collar.

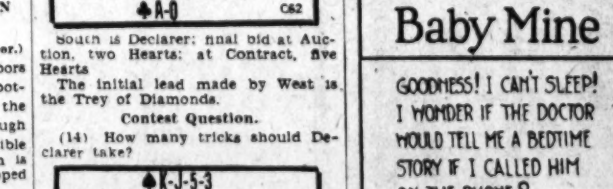

Then, of course, there's the weekly Dore fashion letter that appears in the Capital exclusively in The Sunday Washington Post every Sunday.

What Today Means to You

"ACQUARIUS."

January 29 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 8:30 a. m. from noon to 2 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:40 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

Wary research workers, science probes and psychic investigators will find this an auspicious date for their efforts. Secrets will be revealed. Important investments should be postponed, especially in connection with land or real estate. Do not loan money!

The child born on this January 29 will be freedom-loving, cheerful and bright. It will be a quick conversationalist, imitative and humorous. It will have charming manners and will make a host of friends. It will be fond of travel and will see considerable of the world.

You are in possession of two very definite, very vivid and very compelling personalities. The one is your best self, and the other your "naughty" self. When you are at your best, you fascinate, you charm and you please people. You gain your ends, cleverly, but through gentle and kindly means. You charm your associates into doing things for you. At times, under stress of difficulties or through mental or physical fatigue, you allow your base and coarser instincts to predominate. You are then a bully and you do any and all things which you yourself can not understand doing. You are neither kind, just nor reasonable, and you lose the temporary respect and friendship of those about you.

You lead an ultra active physical and mental life, and you can not always stand the strain. Your nerves give out, and you are not your level-headed usual self. You need to heed the laws of conservation; nature did not give you an unbreakable physical machine, and your mind needs more rest. You will give and receive full measure from life's storehouse. You will gamble away your life at any time, but you are too cautious to take chances on other things. Your associates may at times find you difficult, but they will never find you a bore. You keep people guessing.

Why 85% of America's leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent

Greater comfort . . . remarkable absorption . . . less bulk and weight . . . are reasons why 85% of leading hospitals now use Kotex absorbent.

PROPER sanitary care is more than a matter of personal daintiness . . . it's a matter of actual health protection. So it's highly significant that 85% of America's leading hospitals select Kotex absorbent. Women may use Kotex, safe in the knowledge that their sanitary protection is the kind approved by doctors . . . that the greatest hospitals could offer nothing finer.

Why Kotex is more hygienic Its amazing absorbency makes Kotex safer in many ways. Kotex absorbs away from the surface. The surface is kept soft, fluffy and delicate. This is not only more comfortable, but more hygienic and far daintier. Because Kotex absorbs so thoroughly, bulk and weight are not needed. You've no unpleasant consciousness of sanitary protection . . . no nervousness . . . no worries. There's no "packing," because Kotex is made of air-cooled layers of Cellucotton absorbent wadding. Remember that Cellucotton is not cotton—but a cellulose product which performs the same sanitary function with 5 times the absorbency of the finest cotton. There are many reasons why Cellucotton makes a superior sanitary pad. Several are noted at the try. Please read them—then try Kotex. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

STOCK PRICE TREND

DROPS IN ONE DAY

Favorable Business News Proves Feature of Market.

REPUBLIC STEEL CLIMBS

New York, Jan. 28 (A.P.)—Strong selling resistance developed in the stock market today when efforts were made to extend the recent recovery, and prices generally declined.

The decline was not associated with any developments in the day's news and was in the nature of a technical correction of a temporarily overbought position. Operators for the advance succeeded in pushing up a number of issues, some of the gains in which ran from 2 to 6 points.

Trading showed a moderate decline off in volume, the day's action falling just short of 3,000,000 shares.

Wall Street was treated to a number of constructive market developments during the day. Overriding came the weekly Federal Reserve condition report showing a further shrinkage of 100,000,000 in security loans by reporting member banks, the total of which is still over $7,000,000,000. Around midday came President Hoover's statement of a further gain in employment figures.

U. S. Steel Report Issued.

After the close of the market, the United States Steel Corporation issued its report showing earnings of $21.18 a share for 1929, including a year-end adjustment of $9.97, $1.50, without which the earnings would have been $19.66 a share. Wall Street estimates had ranged from $18 to $19 a share.

The report of Jones & Laughlin and Inland Steel companies, also made public excellent earnings reports, the annual dividend on the common stock of the latter being increased from $3.50 to $4.

Other favorable items in the day's news were the increase in the annual dividend on Norfolk & Western from $8 to $10, reports that Chicago steel operations had been stepped up to between 80 and 85 per cent of capacity and a series of frequent earnings reports by small companies.

Call money again dropped from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent, but a firmer undertone was noted with the approach of the month-end stock subscription, during this week, totaling $45,000,000, with $10 million being called for payment.

Trading in the total to around $200,000,000. The February 1 dividend and interest disbursements are expected to run close to $500,000,000, a new high record for this season of the year.

Reaction Not Unexpected.

The reaction in today's market caused little surprise in view of the sharp run-up in prices during the last ten days. In fact, several of the large commission houses, while maintaining a bullish attitude on the future outlook, urged their customers to take trading profits in speculative stocks, and the market was forced to absorb a large volume of these realizations.

Reaction, therefore, was not unexpected, but it was noted that the reaction was not a "bear" selling, but they failed to make much headway.

Auburn Auto fell 7 points and rallied 4 1/2. Winona, Tappan, B. & M., Beyer, Lackawanna, General Electric, Republic Iron & Steel, United Cities and Electric, and United States Steel, all declined 3 to 5 points lower.

Losses of 2 points or more were suffered by American Telephone, International Telephone, American & Foreign Power, Standard Gas & Electric and Union Pacific. B. & O. declined 1 1/2 at 177, after having touched 177 1/2.

Cotton Advances.

Underwood Elliott Fisher and International Business Machines each closed about 6 points higher, while Advance Rumor preferred, Colgate International Combustion preferred and Republic Steel preferred showed gains of 3 points or more. Frank & Carter, scored an extreme gain of 3 points on a turnover which was due to last week's total sales of $100,000. Coppers showed a much sharper break in Spanish pesos, and on reports that Premier Rivera was resigned, were the only developments of consequence in the foreign exchange market. Sterling cables steadily around $4.89 1/2, and other European rates showed little movement.

Reactionary tendencies predominated in the commodity markets, and corn and clover seed unchanged, while coffee and cotton dropped 2 to 12 points. Coffee fell 19 to 26 points, and raw sugar futures closed unchanged to 2 points lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 28 (A.P.)—Bulls that resulted largely from a cent-a-bushel break in the wheat market, but later counteracted by a cent-a-bushel drop in the corn market, were witnessed, especially in the wheat market, a sharp rise in the price of wheat.

Within memory, there has been no such a sharp rise in the price of wheat in the United States as the wheat market in Germany as it prevails at present, according to reports from Germany.

Both in Germany and Poland, the wheat market is showing a sharp rise in the price of wheat, and this is being attributed to the influence of the wheat market in the United States.

FAINTING PHIL NOW QUITE WHAT-HO

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—James J. Johnston, owner of the American cap rights to Fainting Phil Scott, has effected a social liaison with the Edward Huttons of Battle Creek, Mich., and Palm Beach, Fla., and states that his share of Fainting Phil will train under the Hutton social auspices in Palm Beach, preparatory to his boxing match with Jack Sharkey in Miami.

Mr. Johnston tells his correspondent that Mr. Hutton has been dropping in on Philip for kippers and marmalade every morning for several days and that Philip has advanced himself socially to such an extent that he now dines with Mr. Hutton as "Neddie, old topper," and the Huttons' No. 1 butler as "Jarvis, my good man." The City of Miami has raised some objection to the social program, insisting that under the articles of agreement between the municipality and the Garden Corporation of New York, Fainting Phil must train within the corporate limits of Miami.

Local Millionaire Is Offered

As a concession, the Chamber of Commerce of Miami has offered to find a local millionaire quite as refined and socially exclusive as Mr. Hutton, who will suffer himself to be addressed as "Old Topper" for the duration of the training period as a civic sacrifice, in order that the name of Miami might appear in the date lines on the stories of Philip's daily attacks of vertigo in the practice ring.

But Mr. Johnston doubts that the City of Miami has any millionaire as desirable as Mr. Hutton, who was one of the most socially refined and exclusive millionaires in the country in the last revision of the national directory. He is inclined to insist that his share of Philip, at least, shall be permitted to accept the hospitality of Neddie, old topper.

Burs Real Estate Millionaires

Mr. Johnston is no man to trade a Palm Beach millionaire for one of the Miami kind unless the chamber of commerce would develop a social throw in a cash bonus of considerable size because, with only the kindest feelings for Miami, he realizes that most of Miami's millionaires are real estate millionaires, who have been quoted at a sharp discount for several years.

Fainting Phil for his part, has looked into the situation and ascertained that most of the mansions in the Miami district are built with tile or slate floors in the no-stucco-Spanish mode which would be very hard on his shoulder blades and the back of his head in his practice swoons. On the other hand, Neddie, old topper, has shown him the dining room rug for rug in his drawing room at Palm Beach, which are six inches thick and promise the maximum comfort for one addicted to the prostrate stance in boxing.

The back of Philip's head is almost bald now from chafing on the rough texture of the canvases used in the many rings upon which he has reclined and Mr. Hutton's rugs are by no means the least of the attractions, either.

Huttons Are Coming Social Champs

Your correspondent has not had the honor of a social intimacy with the Huttons in Palm Beach, but from what he has learned of them, through connection more or less backstairs, he judges that Philip would be making a great sacrifice if he were to relinquish his social progress with them.

Your correspondent spent some time in Palm Beach last winter and became quite well acquainted with several utterly irrelevant ladies who told him that the Huttons were the coming champions of Palm Beach society, although perhaps a trifle short on generalship and may be a season or two away from their peak. I took this to be the verdict of experts.

If there were such a thing as a future book on the championship of society, one of these ladies stated to me, "I would take a room in West Palm Beach for the season and waver."

Campolo Bout With Risko Banned

Boxing Body Asserts Argentinian Is Too Big for Opponent.

Fears Repetition of Campolo's Bout With Heeney.

By EDWARD J. NEIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (A.P.).—The New York State Athletic Commission dummied the proposed fight between Campolo and Risko, who at one time or another has whipped almost every giant among the cauliflowerers, was not a fit opponent for Victor Campolo, South America's manana mauler.

This surprising mandate wiped out the future battle of a heavyweight scheduled for February 7 at Madison Square Garden, left plump little Tom Heeney, the matchmaker, puffing in astonishment, and puzzled every one but the commission as to the reason. The solemn fathers merely declared that Risko was no match for the Argentine, who lost a decision to Phil Scott in his last bout here.

William Muldoon, 85-year-old member of the commission, said the match was "too one-sided and would result only in a repetition of the Campolo-Heeney fight." Campolo scored a technical knockout last summer over "Ould Tom," who has since retired.

Declare Risko Is Overmatched

Muldoon said Campolo, who fights at about 225 pounds compared to Risko's 195, was altogether too big for the rugged Bohemian brawler who from Cleveland, he declared, there were many battles of Campolo's own size available without taking the "little fellow" into consideration.

Risko Has Beaten Big George Godfrey

Risko boasts an excellent record among the giants of the ring. His best victory was a 15-round decision over Jack Sharkey in 1928 and he has defeated George Godfrey, the huge Negro, who compares with Carnera in size, and Risko won. At odd moments he has defeated Bertozzi, another large Italian; Otto von Poray, Jimmy Maloney and Phil Scott.

Seats for Miami Fight Scale Down From $25

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 28 (N.Y.U.S.).—Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Madison Square Garden, today announced that he has decided to scale down the seating for the Campolo-Scott fight in the Miami Stadium on February 27. The top price will be $25, the inner circle $12.50, and outer circle $4.49. He also announced that although the new stadium will seat 50,000 persons, he has set aside 20,000 seats at the lowest price, $4.49.

Admission to G.U. Bouts Is Restricted to Men

Admission to home matches of the Georgetown University boxing at Ryan gymnasium will be granted only to men. Father Joseph T. O'Brien, faculty athletic advisor, stated last night. The small seating capacity of the gymnasium made it necessary, Father O'Brien explained, to place a restriction on admissions without effecting the privileges of the student body, which is composed entirely of male students. In the past women have composed approximately one third of the attendance at Hilltop bouts.

Former Stars Attempting Comebacks

Hartnett and Wright Hopeful Injured Arms Cured.

Cubs and Dodgers to Benefit With Stars Back in Form.

By FRANK H. YOUNG

There is a saying in sports that "they never come back." This is usually the case, but there have been exceptions, and baseball fans, who are particularly interested in comeback attempts, will see two former stars battling to regain their places in the sun during the coming season. Both are National Leaguers—Catcher Gabby Hartnett, of the Chicago Cubs, and Infielder Glen Wright, of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Two years ago Hartnett was considered one of the best receivers in the national game. Aggressive, smart and hard-working, with a great throwing arm and a punch at the plate, he stood out among backstops of both leagues.

Reports Say Gabby Is Now O. K.

Last November a Chicago surgeon took Gabby in hand and, after taking no less than fourteen X-ray photographs, found evidence of inflammation in three spots on his arm. Treatment apparently had had their effect, judging from the following from the typewriter of James Crusinberry, who recently appeared in the Chicago Daily News:

"Watched Gabby Hartnett pegging 'em yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium. No sign of anything, he surprised us. Was cutting loose with all the old-time speed. Couldn't peg like that at any time last season. He's all right now. Yell, he's like a wild Indian. Has lost all his fear of last summer. Lost his tonsils, too. Maybe that's why he's pegging so well. But when he's pegging it's a sure thing his arm feels good."

Robins Fail to Benefit From Wright

Wright was a great shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates for several years, until just after he was traded to the Boston Braves. He was a member of the 1928 schedule. While playing handball before reporting to Brooklyn, he injured his pegging arm and this hurt him absolutely useless to Manager Wilbert Robinson last season.

Shortstop Hopes Sunshine Will Help

Wright underwent an operation on his arm soon after the close of last season and he, too, believes that his wing is on the way to being cured. He was looked upon as a rising star, he has advised friends that the arm feels good, but admits that the physicians have ordered him not to do any throwing for a while.

Miss O'Hearn made both of her free throw count and broke the tie which threatened to continue for the remainder of the regulation period. A late change in the Capital line-up, which moved Miss O'Hearn from jumping center to forward, proved a strategic move.

NEWS OF THE STATES AND VIRGINIA

ALEXANDRIA COUNCIL MEMBERS WILL QUIT

Ticer, However, Will Likely Be a Candidate for Reelection.

N. B. TRISTE BURKE DIES

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 212 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.

Two members of the city council whose terms will expire this year will not run for reelection, according to statements made yesterday. They are Councilman Robert S. Jones, who will complete his second term of four years, and Councilman J. E. W. Timmerman, who is serving his first term of equal length. The third member of the governing body whose term will expire at the same time, Edmund P. Ticer, will, it is understood, again be a candidate for reelection.

Councilman Timmerman began to make his presence in the council felt shortly after his election, in 1926, to succeed Arthur T. Bryant. Eight years ago, when the Kiwanis Club took an active part in the changed form of city government, he sponsored and presided at a mass meeting of citizens which appointed a committee of fifteen to choose candidates for the office of councilman, the ticket named by this committee being successful by a heavy vote.

The outstanding act of Mr. Timmerman's incumbency as a councilman was the introduction in council of a resolution which led to the filing by the city of suit against Arlington and Fairfax Counties for the annexation of a portion of their territory, which suit was won after a struggle lasting almost two years. He also sponsored the movement for construction of the Hoofta River sewer, which has been under consideration for several years without definite action.

Mr. Jones, who was one of the original members of the council, was the present form of government was adopted, has long been a prominent figure in civic affairs. He has devoted a great deal of his time to the affairs of the city, and has won the admiration and good will of all citizens. His candidacy four years ago was unopposed.

The retirement of Councilmen Jones and Timmerman leaves the field open for a number of prospective candidates who are expected to announce their intentions shortly, among whom will probably be one or two from the newly annexed territory.

A community mass meeting was held last night in the auditorium of the Elks' Home, which was addressed by Dr. F. B. Short, of New York, on the subject of "Community Building." Dr. Short's address was under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, the Kiwanis Club, the Rotary Club and the American Legion.

A number of residents of the newly annexed territory were present. Fred C. Goodnow, president of the chamber of commerce, also presided at the meeting. Community singing was led by Lawrence Roland, and there was an entertainment program, including vocal selections by Mrs. Mary E. Edgington, Miss Margaret Edgington, violin selection by Andrew Vozolova, vocal selection by Mrs. Evelyn Howard Sheridan and a song and dance by Miss Edgington.

"Saying Lives" was the topic of an address made yesterday before the local Rotary Club by J. Gordon, safety engineer of the Bureau of Safety of Chicago. He gave numerous examples of how carelessness was responsible for accidents. He urged safety at all railroad crossings, and advocated the use of automobiles to come to a complete stop before crossing a grade crossing, to see that the road was clear. President S. Nelson Gray presided.

The fire apparatus in the Town of Potomac, the ownership of which has been a matter of dispute between Arlington County and Alexandria, through a suit brought by William B. Fulton, former mayor, and Naomi P. Crave, former councilwoman, is the property of Arlington County, according to a decision handed down yesterday by the Circuit Court for Arlington County.

The engine is a 600-gallon American LaFrance triple combination pump, and is valued at $8,250. It is about one year old.

Nicholas Brown Triste Burke, aged 31 years, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Burke, died yesterday morning in a Washington hospital from an operation for appendicitis performed two weeks ago, and from which he had appeared to be recovering until shortly before his death.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Smith Burke, to whom he was married about two years ago in Providence, R. I. He also is survived by his parents, two sisters, Miss Ellen Colledge Burke and Mrs. Robert Edmond Graham, both of this city, and a brother, Gordon T. Burke, of Omaha, Neb.

The deceased studied civil engineering at the University of Virginia and for the past three years has been employed as assistant engineer at Mount Vernon, where he made his home. The body was brought to the city by a private funeral home, and will be buried at the Washington National Cemetery.

DETURRER CUPPED IN FIRE ENGINE SUIT

Arlington Court Decision Is Final Step in Potomac Apparatus Incident.

ARLINGTON COUNTY, BUREAU OF THE POST, Clarendon, Va.

Frederick W. Coleman, of Fredericksburg, Va., sitting today in the Arlington County Circuit Court at the hearing on the temporary injunction restraining the county board of supervisors from removing the American La France fire engine from the Town of Potomac, sustained the demurrer, dissolved the temporary injunction and dismissed the bill of complaint. The entire proceedings lasted less than one hour.

John S. Barbour, representing the county board of supervisors, declared in his remarks to the court that the title of the property in question was vested in the county board of supervisors, not in the Town of Potomac, which no longer exists, it being a part of the Jefferson Parish of Potomac, and the decree in the recent annexation proceedings in no way changed the title of the property.

Attorney W. E. Snow, of Alexandria, representing the signers of the petition on which the temporary injunction was granted, stated that the City of Alexandria was in no way involved in the proceedings. "We base our claim on the fact that the engine was purchased from the special fire tax laid by the county board of supervisors, of which the City of Alexandria is a part," he said, and asked the court to sustain the injunction on those grounds.

The injunction was granted on the afternoon of December 31, 1929, by Circuit Court Judge Howard W. Smith. County Engineer C. L. Kinnier was at the time the injunction was granted, in the act of removing the fire engine from the Town of Potomac and had received orders to stop. At midnight, December 31, the annexation of the Town of Potomac to the City of Alexandria became effective.

Edward J. Duff, chairman of the board of supervisors, representing the Jefferson District, announced last night that the engine will be left in the Town of Potomac, and if no move on the part of the City of Alexandria is made to purchase it, he will order its removal to the Virginia Highlands.

With the county about to receive $500,000 and interest dating from January 1, 1930, from the City of Alexandria, in accordance with the decree of the Supreme Court, the board of supervisors, plans for the use of it will be one of the principal topics before the meeting of the county board of supervisors tomorrow morning.

The Arlington County Water Department issued a notice yesterday to the effect that all water bills due as of January 1, 1930, will be considered delinquent. Unless these bills are paid without further unnecessary delay, the water service will be discontinued, County Engineer C. L. Kinnier announced.

Announcement is made that there will be a special meeting with the colored executive committee tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. M. A. Rosenberg, at 1510 N. Washington, in connection with the anti-tuberculosis campaign.

The plans and purposes of the campaign will be explained by Dr. P. M. Chichester, county health officer; Mrs. M. A. Rosenberg, county nurse; and Dr. W. D. Davies, county surgeon.

Tomorrow night there will be a meeting under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Arlington County High School, at the school house at 7:45 o'clock. At this meeting the speakers will be Dr. Chichester, Mrs. Davies and Miss Gray.

The Arlington Rotary Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at the Washington Golf and Country Club, with President Dr. R. N. Sutton presiding.

C. A. Keefe, of North Braddock, returned to the Naval Hospital, Washington, tomorrow morning, where he will undergo an operation.

The Lyon Village Citizens Association will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the offices of Lyon & Fitch.

Dr. Maiden Quits As College Head

President of Shenandoah Institution Plans to Do Research Work.

FAIRFAX CIVIL COURT FACES BUSY DOCKET

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST, P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.

Judge Howard W. Smith fined Dr. L. E. Maiden, who rose from the job of railroad engineer to college president, today resigned the presidency of Shenandoah College at Dayton, Va., one of the church-supported institutions of the United Brethren Church of America.

The resignation, tendered to the board of trustees, becomes effective June 30, 1930, after the close of the present college year. Elmer N. Funkhouser, of Hagerstown, Md., president of the board, was directed to seek a new president.

Dr. Maiden has made connections for research work in archeology, which will involve a trip to the Orient. He has long been interested in archeology and a year ago asked the board of trustees to relieve him of his college duties so that he could give his time to research work.
